(LIST YEAR.) THE (No. 2571.)

MARYLAND GAZETTE.

THURSDAY, APRIL 21, 1796.

CHOLLET, January 27.

SINCE Stofflet has taken off the maſk in order to act in concert with Charette and Sapinaud, conſternation reigns in the country places, the inhabitants of which are curſing them; while ſeveral of them out of fear leſt the republican forces ſhould not be ſufficient, appeared prepared to march.

Stofflet has iſſued proclamations, in which he invites the citizens to come and fight for their king; it being better, he ſays, to have one king than ſeven hundred and fifty-five.

FRANCFORT, February 6.

The Imperialiſts are now making every neceſſary preparation for opening a new campaign; and at Manheim ſome hundred thouſand cartridges are getting ready.

Feb. 15. The advanced poſts of the French and Auſtrians are now within a league of each other—The former have ſtrong corps at Stromberg, Simmern, and Kreutznach.

More corn and meal is now exporting from Bohemia than ever was known at any former period.

All the horſes uſed for pleaſure have been ſeized at Straſburg, when ſome perſons going to the theatre in their carriages, were obliged to leave them, the cattle being forcibly taken away. On the 3d inſt. the guillotine was again put in motion at that place, and an emigrant prieſt belonging to one of the richeſt families in the department of the Upper Rhine, was executed.

VIENNA COURT GAZETTE, Feb. 10.

His Imperial majeſty has, upon the moſt preſſing and repeated ſolicitations of field-marſhal count de Clairfayt, reſolved to free him from the farther command of the army of the Lower Rhine, and nominated his royal highneſs the archduke Charles to the chief command of the ſame.

At the ſame time his Imperial majeſty, in token of his full ſatisfaction of the meritorious ſervices rendered by the field-marſhal, has been moſt graciouſly pleaſed to confer on him the order of the Golden Fleece.

HAGUE, February 13.

The municipality of Utrecht ſent notice to the States General, that 20 officers of the Orange party in Weſtphalia, who had been taken priſoners by the French, were on the road to the Hague, and yeſterday they arrived here under a ſtrong eſcort; it is generally thought they will be executed.

Yeſterday the ſtate priſoner Van de Spiegel, went under a ſtrong guard to Woerden, where he is to be impriſoned. Count Bentinck follows him to-day.

The deputies of Frieſland have reſolved that all perſons who have ſerved in the Orange army, ſhall be forbid to return to Holland under pain of death, and they have alſo given public notice, that all perſons who ſerved the former government, having now loſt the confidence of the people, muſt repair within 14 days to their places of abode, and remain there, and they are at the ſame time forbid to ſell their eſtates.

The deputies of Holland on the 5th publiſhed a declaration, upon which the provincial adminiſtration is to be eſtabliſhed, until the national convention ſhould think fit to alter it; this declaration, however, meets great oppoſition among the lower claſs of the people, but moſt particularly from the deputies of Amſterdam, who have proteſted againſt the meaſure, becauſe concluded without the conſent of the people of Holland, and have refuſed to make it public.

It is believed that this affair may protract the meeting of the convention, which is fixed for the 18th.

The committee of maritime affairs have propoſed to make a lottery of 50,000 florins, the tickets of which are to be diſtributed to thoſe perſons who are willing to enter into the ſea ſervice. A tranſport with 300 Dutch and French emigrants aboard, going to the Weſt-Indies, has been carried into Fluſhing. We have juſt now learned, that the ſtate priſoner Van de Spiegel, on his journey to Woerden, has been ſeized with a paralytic ſtroke, and his recovery is rather doubtful.

VIENNA, February 4.

Reinforcements for Italy ſet out daily, not only from hence, but from all the provinces of Auſtria; and in caſe a new campaign ſhould take place, which appears more and more likely, a new plan of recruiting is in readineſs, by which an army may be compoſed and made ready to act in a very ſhort time. The fine regiment of cavalry, Karaiczey, which has demanded to be employed again, againſt the enemy, paſſed this city a day or two ago, on its way to the Rhine. According to the news from Conſtantinople, the French miniſter there, Verninac, makes continual efforts, and employs every means to draw the Porte into the intereſts of France, and to perſuade the grand ſignior that he ought not to remain indifferent to the partition of Poland; but the miniſters of the other courts have been able hitherto to render unſucceſsful all his attempts, and to keep the grand ſignior in his pacific diſpoſitions. The king of Sweden has, for private reaſons, recalled his ambaſſador there, M. d'Aſch, and named M. d'Ochſon to that appointment.

PARIS, February 18.

The miniſter of Police has juſt contradicted officially the rumour of the ſpeedy departure of the ſecond requiſition.

The following details have reached us reſpecting the departments in a ſtate of inſurrection:

The foreſt of Bretonne, in the department of Sienne Inferieure, is the general rendezvous of an armed force, conſiſting of horſe and foot, who pillage, aſſaſſinate, and lay waſte by fire and ſword, the adjacent communes. In the department of L'Eure, armed aſſemblages for the re-eſtabliſhment of royalty are forming; the citizens are murdered in their houſes amid the exclamations of Vive le Roi. Others are ſtripped and plundered of all their property. In the department of l'Orne the royaliſts are in motion; whoever is armed for the defence of the republic is ſure to be butchered, as are alſo thoſe who endeavour to eſtabliſh and maintain good order. Robberies and murders are multiplied; the diligences are ſtopped and pillaged; and there is no longer any ſecurity either for the traveller or the reſident. The department of La Manche is equally a prey to theſe deſperadoes.

A Britiſh frigate has been carried into Toulon by the Senſible Frigate.

General Rochambeau, the younger, is appointed commandant at St Domingo.

Feb 20. This day, about ten in the morning, all the forms, boards, and other inſtruments uſed in the formation of aſſignats, were broken in the Place Vendome, and there melted in a vaſt furnace which had been conſtructed for the purpoſe. The ſpectacle was attended by a great crowd.

Our letters from Caen, dated 24th Pluvioſe (Feb. 13) ſtate that gen. Dugat had taken the neceſſary ſteps to oblige the farmers to ſupply that city with proviſions. In that country every thing is ſubjected to a military government. The adminiſtrators of Calvados have juſt announced to their fellow citizens that general Hoche had adopted a plan of ſubduing without delay, the rebels who devaſtate that territory. The Chouans, notwithſtanding, drive the peaſants from the country, and a multitude of citizens repair to Caen to ſhelter themſelves from their plunderings and aſſaſſination.

A letter from Nantes, of the 15 Pluvioſe (February 4) ſays, "We are ſurrounded by the Chouans, who have cut off the communication between Nantes and Angers: Manufactures are no longer carried on here, and the workmen are in conſequence in the greateſt conſternation. Since Stofflet has riſen, his troops prevent any thing from being brought to this town—Such in ſubſtance is our own ſituation."

Feb. 21. In execution of another order of the directory, the central bureau has fixed the prices at which the butchers ſhall ſell their meat from the 1ſt Ventoſe (Feb. 20).

	In aſſignats.	In ſpecie.
Beef	145 livres	11 ſols.
Mutton	145 do.	11 do.
Veal	130 do.	11 do.

The new war miniſter, Periet, has reduced the number of his clerks from 1700 to 600.

All kinds of merchandiſe continue to riſe at Paris. It is the ſame at Rouen. The inhabitants of that town congratulate themſelves on the appointment of Citizen Marinier, formerly procureur ſyndic of the diſtrict of Montivilliers, to the place of commiſſioner to the directory. He is held in general eſteem. If the directory had always choſen ſuch perſons as he, the republic would have been more tranquil, and they would have experienced nothing but applauſe.

The directory has partly ſuſpended the execution of its mandate enjoining that no more than a certain quantity of bread ſhould be diſtributed. The uſual allowance continues proviſionally to be ſupplied to all the citizens who have not been taxed for the forced loan at more than 400 livres, and to the public functionaries whoſe ſalaries do not exceed 12,000 livres per month.

Feb 22. The price of bread in this capital is fixed for the preſent decade of 40 livres per pound in aſſignats, or two ſols (three half-pence) in ſpecie, at the choice of the conſumer. All the neceſſaries of life continue to advance: yeſterday there was a pretty conſiderable armed force on foot, in conſequence of a ferment occaſioned by this circumſtance. Several mobs were collected: the murmurs were loud, and men whoſe ſole view is to excite diſorder and anarchy, augment the diſcontent of the citizens by perfidious reproaches. They urged to them, that under Robeſpierre aſſignats had their value, and accuſed the directory and the legiſlative body of being the cauſe of their depreciation. They were aware at the ſame time that the true cauſe conſiſted in the conſtant emiſſions of aſſignats, called for by the war, and the enormous expences it occaſions; they even went ſo far as to praiſe the Decemviral tyranny.

Bands of Chouans infeſt different cantons in the environs of Liſieux; among others, thoſe of Julien-le Faucon, Pierre-ſur-Dives, Notre Dame-du Frenet and Livarot. Theſe incurſions are ſo much the more alarming, as in thoſe countries there are ſeveral foreſts, where they can get beyond the reach of all purſuers. The directory have taken meaſures to cruſh the danger before it has arrived to a formidable height.—Ten thouſand men are on their march for that country; and the almoſt entire rout of Charette and Stofflet, will enable them in caſe of exigency, to add a reinforcement of twenty thouſand men.

COWES.

In the catalogue of human woes, which hiſtory records from the earlieſt period of the creation, we do not remember to have heard of one, equal in miſery, to the following account, handed to us from a friend, on whoſe veracity we place the ſtricteſt reliance:

On Sunday laſt, 86 of the Somerſetſhire, and 29 of the Suffolk reduced ſencibles, with five women, were put, at Jerſey, on board a ſmall veſſel called the John and Eliſabeth, Mitchell, belonging to Cowes, to return to England.

In the paſſage they had much tempeſtuous weather, and on Tueſday night, being not far diſtant from land, a moſt violent hurricane came on, and continued with ſuch force, that the maſter, ſeeing inevitable deſtruction by running aſhore if he ſteered his courſe, put his veſſel about and endeavoured to lay to. In this poſition, every ſea paſſing over the deck, he judged it expedient, for the ſafety of the veſſel and lives on board, to batten down the hatches to prevent the water ſinking her.

Dreadful alternative! for in a ſhort time, from the number below and being deprived of all air, many became delirious, and ſo frantic, as to rob and maim each other. And here the tale of diſtreſs does not ſtop, which humanity ſhudders to relate. On opening the hatches next morning, after the gale had ſubſided, 52 miſerable diſfigured victims to ſuffocation and rage preſented themſelves to the unhappy ſuffering ſurvivors.

Thoſe who read this cataſtrophe, and bear in remembrance the fate of the unfortunate priſoners in the hole of Calcutta, may find ſome parallel in the exceſs of human wretchedneſs. This, charity induces us to believe, aroſe from indiſcretion and ignorance alone.

The maſter of the veſſel has made an affidavit of the fact, before the collector and controller of the cuſtoms at Cowes.

LONDON, February 22.

The Chouans appear to be in great force, and to have extended their incurſions into the province of Normandy, where the greateſt diſcontent prevails, on account of the alarming ſcarcity of every kind of proviſions (the diſtribution of bread being limited to a quarter of a pound per diem for each individual) and of the abominable acts of oppreſſion which are daily exerciſed. Stofflet has again taken up arms, and placed himſelf at the head of the inſurgents.

It may be reaſonably concluded, from the ſtatements of the lateſt French papers, that Stofflet has at length broken his truce with the republic by a proclamation, in which he adopts and publiſhes the declaration of Louis XVIII. and that the Chouans are making ſuch an effectual progreſs in Britanny and Normandy, as to place the greater part of the towns in theſe two provinces in a ſtate of ſiege. The declaration of their being reduced to that diſtreſs, may, however, be a ſtratagem of the directory to introduce the revolutionary government, and to eſtabliſh by degrees a ſuſpenſion of the conſtitution in all the departments.

The continued exiſtence of general Charette at the head of an army, is indeed marvellous. On recapitulating the numbers of his troops, killed by the republican generals in their reports, we ſhall find that the ſum total exceeds double the amount of all the troops he has ever had under his orders—and yet he remains ſtill at the head of an army, which obliges his enemies to maintain armies far more numerous than his to watch his motions. He is a Phœnix, riſing from his aſhes. There is ſomething ſtill more ſingular in the fate of this gallant general, viz. that whilſt the regicide armies are defeating him daily in La Vendee, certain royaliſts here endeavoured to defame his character, by re-printing memoirs which were publiſhed againſt him by the Robeſpierreſts in France.

Puiſaye is ſaid to have been killed in an action between the Chouans and republicans near Guet.

Feb. 26. It will be ſeen, that every preparation is making on the part of the French to renew the campaign with all poſſible expedition and vigour; that, with a view to facilitate their fiſcal operations, a bank has been eſtabliſhed; and that the Chouans, according to their own accounts, are increaſing in a moſt alarming manner, ſpreading diſaffection and promoting deſertion among the troops of the republic, and extending their deſtructive meaſures over the whole face of the country, in the provinces of Britanny and Normandy, and in the adjacent diſtricts.

BOSTON, April 6.

Extract of a letter from an American gentleman at Havre, dated February 21, 1796.

"I wrote you two days ſince on buſineſs; a ſubject ſo melancholy, I ſhall not touch upon in this. What intelligence there is ſtirring relate principally to the peace, much talked off; but as I think the preſent government firm and ſtedfaſt, there is little chance that France will accept the terms which Great Britain may advance—they have however agreed to a ſuſpenſion of arms—but how long it will remain I know not: The French are nevertheleſs making every exertion for another campaign. The forced loan has been tolerably well paid, and have heard but few murmurs on that head, there is likewiſe a greater exertion in the marine, and we often calculate here, the fleets of France, Spain, and Holland, as a great ſuperiority for John Bull. The finances of this country ſeem now to be the only difficulty which ſhe has to encounter; for too true it is, there is little caſh in the treaſury; but ſuch a country as this are not without reſources; they are now framing a bank, and exerting themſelves with ſuch energy, as leaves no room to doubt, but they will ſoon have friends to carry on the war, or make peace to great advantage.

"Speculations from America, cannot any longer be profitable; whale oil in great plenty, and in no demand."

NORFOLK, April 4.

Deſtruction of an American Eaſt-Indiaman.

We ſtop the preſs to mention the arrival of captain Wanton Steer, of the brig Charlotte, in 24 days from Fort Royal, Martinique; from him we have obtained the following information:

That the ſhip Diana, of New-York, was boarded by his Britannic majeſty's brig Pelican, captain J. C. Searle, who ſent an officer and crew on board, and took out the mate, and ſix people, and carried her into Fort Royal, where on the 6th of March, while in their poſſeſſion, ſhe caught fire and burnt to the water's edge, with all her cargo, of immenſe value.

BALTIMORE, April 18.

Accounts are received at Philadelphia, by the ſchooner Delight, captain Dunphys, in 15 days from Port-au-Prince, that three ſeventy-four's and three frigates, together with fifty eight ſail of armed tranſports, &c. which ſailed from thence to lay ſiege to Leogane, having on board 4000 troops, were repulſed by the French with a conſiderable loſs, having, contrary to their expectations, met with a force ſuperior, which cauſed their expedition to prove unſucceſsful—one of their 74's was ſo much crippled before a fort, that they were obliged to tow her out. The whole of the fleet had returned to Port-au-Prince previous to his ſailing.

[Communicated by captain Sherman, from St. Ubes.]

Liſbon, Dec. 1795.

SIR,

Repreſentations having been made to me, that the emperor of Morocco, Muley Soliman, (with whom the United States of America are in peace and friendſhip) has teſtified his diſpleaſure that veſſels carrying the flag of the United States, have lately been, for commercial purpoſes, in the port of Morocco, under the dominion of perſons in hoſtility with him; and that a repetition of ſimilar conduct may be attended with very diſagreeable and ſerious conſequences:—I have therefore to requeſt that you will cauſe the preceding information to be communicated to all the captains of veſſels belonging to the United States, now in the ports or kingdom of Portugal, or who may arrive within the ſame, during the exiſtence of the actual ſtate of affairs in Morocco; and that they may be cautioned againſt proceeding in a ſimilar manner: For I am of opinion, that in caſe they ſhould proceed in a ſimilar manner, and ſhould be captured by the cruiſers of the emperor of Morocco, Muley Soliman, neither the captains, crews, veſſels or cargoes, will be reclaimed by the United States.

With due conſideration,
I am, &c.

ANNAPOLIS, April 14.

Extract of a letter from a gentleman in Norfolk, dated 10*th, to his friend in Philadelphia.*

"The only news we have is, that the Britiſh arms have been graced with another Quiberon affair. The ſchooner Swallow, captain M'Dermot, has juſt arrived after a ſhort paſſage from St Domingo. He informs us, that on Sunday the 20th of March, an attempt was made on Leogane by the Britiſh; that two line of battle ſhips, five frigates, and a number of tranſports, with 4000 troops on board, proceeded from Port-au-Prince to the neighbourhood of Leogane, where the troops were landed without oppoſition; that the ſhips of war then drew near the batteries, and commenced a heavy attack; that the fire was returned from the batteries with ſuch effect, as greatly to injure and ſhatter the ſhips, which obliged them to ſheer off, and abandon their land forces to their fate; that the troops were ſurrounded, and of the four thouſand who landed, not a man was ſuffered to eſcape; that the ſhips returned to Port au Prince, when capt. M'Dermot left them a few days after. Captain M'Dermot may be depended on."

"Departed this life, on Wedneſday the 13th inſt. fifty-eight minutes paſt 10 o'clock, Mr. JOHN HAMMOND, of Charles, in the 28th year of his age; this young gentleman's amicable diſpoſition and goodneſs of heart, gained him the confidence and good will of all thoſe who had the pleaſure of being acquainted with him."

To give a proper idea of the plan of this work, the following is extracted from the advertiſement of the Author:

"I imagine a Scythian, named Anacharſis, to arrive in Greece, ſome years before the birth of Alexander; and that from Athens, the uſual place of his reſidence, he makes ſeveral excurſions into the neighbouring provinces; every where obſerving the manners and cuſtoms of the inhabitants, being preſent at their feſtivals, and ſtudying the nature of their governments; ſometimes dedicating his leiſure to inquiries relative to the progreſs of the human mind, and ſometimes converſing with the great men who flouriſhed at that time; with Epaminondas, Phocion, Xenophon, Plato, Ariſtotle, Demoſthenes, &c. As ſoon as he has ſeen Greece enſlaved by Philip, the father of Alexander, he returns into Scythia, where he puts in order an account of his travels; and, to prevent any interruption in his narrative, relates in an introduction the memorable events which had paſſed in Greece before he left Scythia."——"I have choſen to write a narrative of travels rather than a hiſtory, becauſe in ſuch a narrative all is ſcenery and action; and becauſe circumſtantial details may be entered into which are not permitted to the hiſtorian."

John Robert Hollyday, against Philip Edwards and others } THE object of the bill is to obtain a decree for foreclosing a mortgage of a tract of land called EDWARDS's LOT, in Anne-Arundel county, containing fifty acres, together with sundry articles of personal property, executed on the eight day of July, seventeen hundred and forty-five, unto Charles Ridgely, for securing the payment of twelve thousand five hundred and eighty-seven pounds of tobacco, with interest; the bill states, that the said Charles is since dead, having devised the said land to his son Charles, who conveyed the same to the complainant, and that the said Edwards, after executing the said mortgage, removed out of the state to some place unknown, and that it cannot be ascertained whether he is dead or alive, and (if he be dead) who are his legal representatives, or whether he left any; it is thereupon, at the instance of the complainant, adjudged and ordered, that he cause a copy of this order to be inserted at least three weeks successively in the Maryland Gazette before the sixth day of May next, to the intent that the said Philip Edwards, if alive, or his representatives, or any other person interested, may have notice of the aforesaid bill, and of its object, and may be warned to appear here on or before the second Tuesday in September next, to shew cause wherefore a decree should not pass as prayed by the bill.

HAWTHORN RIDGE
For SALE.

To be SOLD, on the twenty-fifth day of April next, on the premiſes,

THAT valuable eſtate, containing a thouſand and ſeventy-five acres of land, in Anne-Arundel county, and ſtate of Maryland, diſtant twelve miles from Annapolis, twenty-four from the capitol in the city of Waſhington, thirty-five from Baltimore-town, one from Patuxent river, and ſix from the Cheſapeake; the improvements are, a new handſome framed two ſtory manſion houſe, forty-four feet in length and twenty four in breadth, commanding an extenſive and beautifully variegated proſpect, cellar, kitchen, pantries, houſekeeper's room, ſtable, overſeer's houſe, tobacco houſes, and negro quarters; there are a great number of ſtreams of water running through ſaid tract; it abounds with rich low grounds, which may be watered at will, and converted into timothy meadow of the firſt quality, at leaſt one hundred acres; upwards of four hundred acres of ſaid eſtate are in rich woods, conſiſting of oak, hickory, poplar, mulberry, and black walnut, &c. &c. which muſt render it peculiarly valuable on a conſideration of the ſcarcity of wood and timber in the adjacent country; the ſoil is rich, and as a part of it is adapted to the produce of ſmall grain and part to tobacco and Indian corn, it preſents an object well deſerving the attention of the gentleman farmer, or planter. This eſtate can boaſt as many advantages as moſt in the United States; if elegance and locality of ſituation, ſalubrity of air, and fertility of ſoil are ſufficient inducements to invite attention, Hawthorn Ridge unites them in a deſirable degree. Terms of ſale will be, a moiety of the purchaſe money to be paid on delivery of poſſeſſion of ſeven hundred acres, including the dwelling houſe and its appertenances, which will be in ten days after the ſale, and the balance in three equal yearly payments, with intereſt. Three hundred and ſeventy-five acres of ſaid land are leaſed for a term of years, to reputable and induſtrious tenants, rendering a profitable rent.
